Replies of the MMLA to the CMI Questionnaire on Arbitration:

1. Would you encourage the CMI to play a role in Maritime arbitration?

MMLA: Any role that the CMI should play in maritime arbitration should be limited to providing an information centre on maritime arbitration through its website.

2. If the answer to point 1 is affirmative, to which extent would you consider the CMI should engage itself in this field.

MMLA: By providing a comparative analysis of arbitration rules and practices as well as recognition and enforcement issues in main arbitration centres so as to serve as an information centre on all issues of interest concerning Maritime Arbitration through CMI's website.

3. Would you support the three above areas of investigation or only some of them?

MMLA: We would support the first area (i.e. for CMI to provide information on maritime arbitration through its website).

4. Formulate any other suggestions for examination by the working group.

MMLA: No other suggestions at this point in time.
