Subject: IMLA Members

Dear Members,

Members will be very saddened to hear that Paul Gill has passed away.

Paul was a founding partner in Dillon Eustace and former president of the Irish Maritime Law Association. For many years, Paul was one of the foremost maritime law practitioners in this jurisdiction, a very active member of the IMLA Committee, a pivotal organiser of many IMLA events and, travelled to many CMI Conferences on behalf of the IMLA.

Paul was an internationally respected shipping and defamation lawyer, regularly listed as a leading individual in International legal guides. He was instructed in nearly every major admiralty case during his career. Paul was instructed by leading international law firms, insurance companies, and was a much sought-after expert in defamation actions, having a number of newspapers as his clients.

Paul attended Gonzaga College, UCD and Trinity and was a partner in Dillon Eustance for 33 years.

Paul will be fondly remembered by his colleagues as a gentleman who always conducted himself with professional dignity and restraint, but with an ever present sense of humour. His professional generosity, patience and pervasive calmness will be sorely missed, along with his great humour, anecdotes and sense of fun. A true gentleman.

The Association extends condolences to Paul's wife Jackie, and his daughter Elizabeth.

Kind regards,
