Judicial sales deal is extension of flag state sovereignty, argues prime mover

'This is a convention which, from a political perspective, isn't going to have any impact on a country's political direction. It is a win-win situation,' Ann Fenech says

United Nations Convention on the International Effects of Judicial Sales of Ships looks all but certain to enter force by next year at latest

FENECH: 'IT IS AN IMPROVEMENT ON THE SITUATION WE HAVE TODAY.'

THE recently agreed international deal on judicial sales should be seen as an enhancement rather than a restriction of flag state sovereignty, according to one of the prime movers behind the agreement.

Comité Maritime International president Ann Fenech made her remarks in an interview at the Valletta offices of law firm Fenech & Fenech, where she is a former managing partner.
